

BRIEF NEWS.

A complete collection of news items and happenings of the day.

The Summer house will run their own bar and billiard room hereafter.

Our old friend Kelly McInnes returned from an extensive trip south yesterday.

The Golden Rule clothing house has just got in a large invoice of Wilson Bros.' elegant ties.

Our orphan gives a description of the "Pride of Pueblo" on the second page of this issue.

Bishop Dunlop leaves to-day for a visitation of northern Arizona, to be gone for two weeks.

Mrs. Annie M. Livingston purchased of Fiske yesterday three lots, for which she paid $300 each.

There will be a special meeting of Las Vegas Commandery No. 2, held at their assembly, on Wednesday evening.

James Moore and his little pay car caused the railroad boys to smile here to-day. He will carry the laugh on south this afternoon.

The grand army wish us to thank every one, blue and gray, for any assistance rendered them during their reunion. The Post will clear a neat little sum.

Captain Hutton, the city street commissioner, has the lumber on the ground to fix the bridge between the two towns. This will stop much grumbling.

In giving the names of the ladies who compose the cooking club, we neglected to mention the names of Miss Rose and Grace Keller, who are leading members.

We don't know if there is any heaven for newspaper men or not, but if we ever take a trip in that direction we want to go along with just such men as Bishop Dunlop.

They say that Dr. Lapham, who is on trial at Albuquerque for robbing the mails, will probably be furnished a home and free transportation to Leavenworth soon.

Mr. Brunswick yesterday sent a train of fourteen wagons loaded with hay for Fort Stanton, which post he has the contract of supplying with this kind of forage this winter.

The Methodist Episcopal Sunday school has about fifty scholars and is in first-class shape. Do you hear that young men? This is a good place for you to put in a good hour Sunday.

The last issue of Fiske's Southern is a beauty. It shows work. Mr. Freeman is the right man in the proper place and Fiske can consider himself a lucky man in securing his services.

R. R. Thornton and Mr. Brigham have dissolved partnership and Mr. Thornton will conduct the business himself. He has moved his office to Shupp's building, the north side of Bridge street.

The steam laundry has closed for want of business. What's the matter boys? Can't you change once in a while and give the white washes washee a chance? No one ever heard of a Chinaman bustin'!

Mr. Lute Wilcox, of the Optic, has purchased two lots from Fiske for $250. This must be a joke, for we can't see how a newspaper man can so far forget himself as to save money to buy town lots. How is this, Will?

That saw mill above the water works dam is a matter of vast importance to the people of Las Vegas. It will immediately effect the purity of the water and it will have to be removed sooner or later in one way or another.

A Paul Crawford has just received a large stock of cigars, made especially for him in the east. The different brands are named after himself and his two little cherubs, Little Ted's Jumbles, Paul's Pet, and Paul Crawford's Own.

There is being organized a club to be called the "Manzaneros club." It will be composed of some of our most prominent citizens and business young men. Its purpose is to begin a systematic work for F. A. Manzaneros in the coming election.

We can't see why our nobly young men insist on having their suits made in St. Louis and Denver and paying sixty or seventy-five dollars, when they can get just the same article here for forty dollars. Look at the matter boys and see if we are not right.

William E. Newlin, the well-known jeweller of this city, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Sara Julia Hutton, on the 24th inst., at the residence of her parents, near Avondale, Pa. THE GAZETTE wishes them a pleasant voyage down the stream of life.

Conductor Adams has now resumed his place on the Hot Springs train. The time has been changed, three times per day each way. The train leaves Las Vegas at 10 a. m., 2:30 p. m., and 7:30 p. m.; returning it leaves the Springs at 8:30 a. m., 12:05 p. m., and 6 p. m. The train remains over night at the Springs.

City Council.

A joint meeting of the city council and board of health was held last evening at the court house. Dr. J. A. Shout resigned the position of city physician and Dr. G. P. Edwards was appointed in his place. A finance committee was appointed to devise ways and means to meet the expenses in carrying on the city hospital. The expenses have been found to be very heavy and it was decided that the city would not take care of any other cases than contagious diseases. It would be necessary for the county to provide for expenses incident to any other classes of diseases. It was resolved to remove the pest house from its present locality to the old place south of town. The council adjourned until Thursday.

RING OUT YE BELLS.

To Joyful Wedding Bells, Let the Smiles and Tears commingle— While We Bless a Daughter— While We Gain a Son.

This morning at 9 o'clock occurred the marriage of Lieutenant William Glassford to Miss Allie S. Davis, daughter of Mrs. S. B. Davis, of the Plaza hotel. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Dunlop. There were present a select number of friends and the affair was elegant but very quiet and unpretentious. In giving the gallant lieutenant her daughter, Mrs. Davis was much overcome and her existence seemed to be going out with this greatest gift on earth. Miss Allie Davis is too well known in Las Vegas to need an introduction, and many hearts will respond in sadness to realize that she has left us. The breakfast was served at 10 o'clock. The table was set in a triangular form and seated about eighty persons. The setting of the spread was probably the most perfect and exquisite that has ever been seen in New Mexico. The bride's cake especially being the perfection of art. The cake, presented by Leon Bros., of this city, was admired possibly more than anything that appeared to beautify the table. The bride and groom occupied seats at the corner of the triangle, with Mrs. Davis and personal friends on right and left. There was never a more jolly, jovial and informal company gathered at the wedding of two loving hearts. Mr. Mumm and his Extra Dry was there, and joy was unconfined. The presents were very fine, embracing everything that one need purchase in fitting out a home. They were useful. The donors seem to have consulted each other and there were scarcely any duplicates. There were some fifty or sixty different presents, but with commendable modesty the family request that no list be given. The bride party left at 2 p. m. yesterday for Chicago and other cities east and will return to Leavenworth after their tour is finished.

May the happiness that is reflected in the faces of Mr. and Mrs. Lieutenant Glassford now be ever with them, and may the greatest blessings of Him who taught them this great love, remain with them to the end.

THE BANQUET.

At the banquet following the supper, the God of mirth, good feeling and happiness ruled supreme. Every face wore a smile, and every lip was ready for a word of congratulation and God speed. Bishop Dunlop, than whom there is not a more reasonably jolly divine living, was especially the leading spirit in rendering everything enjoyable. His toast to the hostess is happy and appropriate.

THE BISHOP'S TOAST.

Bishop Dunlop proposed the following toast: "I rise to propose the health of our excellent hostess, whom to know is to admire and respect. I hardly know, whether on the present occasion, to offer her more of my sympathy or congratulation—congratulation for gaining a son, sympathy, if not for the loss, at least temporary separation from an only daughter. But I reserve my deepest sympathy for the gallant bridegroom, who gave away so meekly—when he could not help it—all his worldly goods. He will need, however, more sympathy in the future; when he comes home late, expressing regret that he has been detained in making preliminary arrangements for a court martial, or taking notes of an impending storm—which occupied him till after midnight. Well, let us draw the curtain and drink the health of our excellent hostess."

This toast was drunk with a will, and the bishop was called upon for another, and amidst the laughter of the entire company he gave

THE HEALTH OF LIEUT. SEBREE, the first groomsmen, whom he said, after so gallantly acting the part of a second on the present occasion, would be moved by this experience to take his place as principal when a similar emergency arose.

And lastly, the health of Lieutenant Bingham was proposed, who added gracefulness to gallantry, and who had contributed so much by his tact and courtesy to make the occasion pass off so pleasantly.

Colonel Craig added an amendment to the Bishop's toast, and proposed "The health of the bridesmaid's." This was accepted and responded to by the tip of many glasses, and then the Colonel, having compromised himself by a voluntary toast, was called upon loudly for another. Reaching down by his side and raising in his arms "Chiquita," a little doll that had been Miss Allie's friend since childhood, he said: "Poor little Chiquita, while we are so happy and thinking only of ourselves, Chiquita, the very best and truest friend of the bride receives not a word of sympathy or recognition. This is not right. This is not just. Although he cannot tell you in words that his little heart is breaking, yet the wag of his tail and waine of his voice speaks out what he feels. Now, then, let us drink the health of the best friend of the family, and let us hope that 'Chiquita' may not lose forever the place in a heart that was once his own, but is now the property of another." The toast was drunk, the guests filed out and thus ended one of the most pleasant affairs that we have ever witnessed.

We called at the Wooster House last night and saw the man Allen Nicholson who was hurt so badly near Lake Valley Saturday. A finance committee was appointed to devise ways and means to meet the expenses in carrying on the city hospital. The expenses have been found to be very heavy and it was decided that the city would not take care of any other cases than contagious diseases. It would be necessary for the county to provide for expenses incident to any other classes of diseases. It was resolved to remove the pest house from its present locality to the old place south of town. The council adjourned until Thursday.

Fast Men—That is Fast Freight Men.

A regular royal railroad excursion of general freight agents of the east passed south yesterday. Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Worcester, Detroit, Chicago and other railroad centers were represented by the best looking crowd of men that has been seen in New Mexico for years. The excursion is given to this party by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Burlington and Missouri River, Denver and Rio Grande and Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe roads. The excursion left Chicago Thursday afternoon, reached Denver Saturday and remained until Sunday, when it left for Pueblo and Leadville, and returning went up the Gunnison division and returned to Pueblo Monday. They then came south reaching Las Vegas at 3 p. m. yesterday. They proceeded south at five o'clock, intending to make Santa Fe, Albuquerque, El Paso and Chihuahua. The party will run out to the springs on their return and spend a day or so. Geo. G. Street, general accountant of the Blue line at Rochester, N. Y., is the historian for the party, and will, on his return, publish an illustrated book of their travels.
